Eco-Church Silver Award While we are not meeting in our church building we can still work towards our Silver Award for Eco-Church. I want to prepare a list of things we can all do to make a difference, which can be printed off and kept for reference. Please tell me what you have been doing in the past year – ways to recycle, fairtrade products, lifestyle changes, actions to take, campaigns to support etc. I want to be inundated with emails, even if you think it's not a new idea. msmith670@btinternet.com. And if you are reading a hard copy and don't do email, then do phone me on 01865 379982, or text 07761 838083. Margaret

Description

In 2019 the Methodist Church in Great Britain celebrated the Tercentenary of Susanna Wesley's birth in 1669. Two commemorative conferences were held that year. Women, Preachers, Methodists incorporates papers from those conferences, the first: 'The Bright Succession: Susanna Wesley, gender, heritage and faith' and the second: "'An Extraordinary Call": Methodist women preachers in Britain 1740 to the present'. Completing the volume are reflections on their 'Call to Preach' from three leading female preachers within Methodism today.

Contents

Chapters 1-4: Susanna Wesley; Charles Wallace, Bill Gibson, Linda Ryan and John Lenton discuss Susanna Wesley, her story, her legacy, and 'a Bright Succession'.

Chapters 5-11: Methodist Women Preachers in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries; Eryn White, John Lenton, Tim Macquiban, Colin Short, David Bundy, Tim Woolley and Jill Barber discuss Methodist women preachers, including those from Welsh Methodism, Primitive Methodist and Bible Christians, and their 'Extraordinary Call'.

Chapters 12-14: Women Methodist ministers reflect; Christina Le Moignan, Judith Maizel-Long and Michaela Youngson reflect on their personal call to preach
